Who Should Consider an Index-Linked Term Deposit?

1. Depositors who are looking for a deposit with a principal guarantee that offers the potential for a higher return than the return paid on fixed rate deposits.
2. Depositors who are looking for an equity-linked investment that carries no fees or commissions.
3. Individuals searching for a diversified investment in Canadian corporations.
4. Conservative individuals who are not willing to risk their initial investment.

Income Tax

Tax will be deferred on Index-Linked Term Deposits held inside registered plans. However, the income tax consequences of holding an Index-Linked Term Deposit will depend upon a holder's particular circumstances, and holders should consult their tax advisors before considering the investment outside a registered plan.

Calculating the Interest

The interest return on the deposit will be based upon the participation rate multiplied by the average return of the S&P/TSX 60 Index over the term of the deposit

The average is calculated by adding the monthly averaging date closing values for the S&P/TSX 60 Index between the start date and the maturity date and dividing that total by the months in the term (36 for the three-year deposit and 60 for the five-year deposit). That average is then compared to the starting level of the S&P/TSX 60 Index at the close of business May 4, 2017. The investor will receive the percentage difference between the average and the starting value, multiplied by the participation rate.

Three-year Deposit

On May 18, 2020, the investor will receive any calculated interest plus the original Deposit Principal amount.

Five-year Deposit

On May 18, 2022, the investor will receive any calculated interest plus the original Deposit Principal amount.

Risks

Unlike other term deposits, there is no guaranteed return on this product. Depending on the performance of the stocks comprising the S&P/TSX 60 Index over the term, it is possible that, at maturity, the investor will receive only their principal back.

Examples: Each example starts with an investment size of $1,000 with the index starting value at 450.

Three-year Example

1. The average of the monthly values of the S&P/TSX 60 Index over the term of the deposit is 500. The Participation Rate is 50%. At the maturity date of the deposit the Depositor will receive:

$$[(500 - 450) / 450] * .50 = 5.56\%$$

$$$1,000 \times 5.56\% = $55.60 \text{ plus the original } $1,000.$$

The compounded annual rate of return in this example, based on the exact term of the deposit would be 1.82%

Five-year Example

1. The average of the monthly values of the S&P/TSX 60 Index over the term of the deposit is 550. The Participation Rate is 100%. At the maturity date of the deposit the Depositor will receive:

$$[(550 - 450) / 450] * 1.00 = 22.22\%$$

$$$1,000 \times 22.22\% = $222.22 \text{ plus the original } $1,000.$$

The compounded annual rate of return in this example, based on the exact term of the deposit would be 4.10%

* For both the three-year and five year deposits, should the average of the monthly index sets be lower than the start value of the index, the return on the deposit will be 0.00% and the Depositor will receive only their principal deposit back at maturity.
